

Writing Situation: Suppose you could be your favorite or make believe character for one day. It could be a character from a book, a television program or a movie.

Directions for Writing: Before you begin writing, think about why you would like to be that character for a day. Explain to your reader why you would choose the character.